Turkey having come to an agreement with the UK, Russia, Prussia and Austria as to the conditions of the arrangement which it is the intention of Turkey to grant to Egypt, conditions which are specified in the separate act hereunto annexed; their Majesties engage to act in perfect accord, and to unite their efforts in order to determine Egypt to conform to that arrangement; each of the parties reserving to itself to cooperate for that purpose, according to the means of action which each may have at its disposal (Art.I).

If the Pasha of Egypt should refuse to accept the above-mentioned arrangement (...) their Majesties engage to take, at the request of Turkey, measures concerted and settled between them, in order to carry that arrangement into effect... the UK and Austria engage to give immediately, to that effect, the necessary orders to their naval commanders in the Mediterranean. In the meanwhile, Turkey having requested his allies to unite with him in order to assist him to cut off the communication by sea between Egypt and Syria, and to prevent the transport of troops, horses, arms, and warlike stores of all kinds, from the one province to the other; the UK and Austria engage to give immediately, to that effect, the necessary orders to their naval commanders in the Mediterranean. Their said Majesties further engage that the naval commanders of their squadrons shall, according to the means at their command, afford, in the name of the alliance, all the support and assistance in their power to those subjects of Turkey who may manifest their fidelity and allegiance to their Sovereign (Art.II).

If Egypt, after having refused to submit to the conditions of the arrangements above mentioned, should direct his land or sea forces against Constantinople, the parties, upon the express demand of Turkey, addressed to the representatives at Constantinople, agree, in such case, to comply with the request of that sovereign, and to provide for the defense of his throne by means of a cooperation agreed upon by mutual consent, for the purpose of placing the two straits of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles, as well as the capital of Turkey, in security against all aggression (Art.III).
